Communion Reflection... Admiration ceases when expectations aren't met. Admiring someone for accomplishments, talents or good moral character is one thing. Trusting someone to bring you peace with God is quite another. During his three year ministry, Jesus attracted many people. But then some of his words seemed impossible to understand: eating flesh, drinking blood for example, people protested. His decisions seemed unwise, dining with sinners. One by one they left him. By the time his work was finished, only one was left standing—rather, hanging: Jesus. Jesus started his Church from scratch, building it with believers, not admirers. The construction began on the third day, went viral at Pentecost and goes on to this very day.

The religious leaders in Jerusalem were amazed and perplexed by the bold witness of Peter and John, ordinary men who were doing extraordinary things in the name of Jesus. This has been God's way through the ages. He chose an insignificant people to be "a light to the nations." He chose a humble young woman from an unknown town to be the mother of the Messiah. Jesus selected ordinary people like Andrew and Mary Magdalene to be his faithful witnesses. Jesus continues to choose ordinary people – like you and me – to accomplish extraordinary things for the good and growth of his kingdom. He molds and moves us by his Word and Spirit to be his voice and hands and feet leading others out of the darkness of this world, to live with him in his marvelous and eternal light.

FROM THE PASTOR

Have we earned our life? We torture ourselves, "Have I done enough, prayed enough, given enough, held in the gossip enough, etc.?" If we're honest, the answer is probably "No."

One of the men who hung next to Jesus understood how it works: "We're receiving the due reward of our deeds, but this man has done nothing wrong." Jesus, "the man in the middle," went way off the usual script that says, "Look what I'm giving up for you. Now earn it!" Jesus did everything for us on the cross without expecting anything from us. The man hanging near Jesus realized he could never earn Jesus' kingdom. The only thing he had to offer was a broken and contrite heart. The new script says, "Truly, I say to you, today you will be with me in Paradise." Enter it with joy.

Happy Grandparents Day

I asked God for water,
he gave me an ocean.
I asked God for a flower,
he gave me a garden.
I asked God for a tree,
he gave me a forest.
I asked God for a friend,
he gave me Grandparents.

Beatitudes of an Elderly Person

Blessed are they who understand
My faltering step and crippled hand.
Blessed are they that know my ears today
Must strain to hear the things they say.
Blessed are they that seem to know
That my eyes are dim and my answers are slow.
Blessed are they who look away
When my tea was spilled at the table today.
Blessed are they with a cheery smile
Who stopped to chat for a little while.
Blessed are they that never say
You have told that story twice today.
Blessed are they that make it known
That I am loved and not alone.
Blessed are all that ease the days.
Of my sunset years in loving ways.
Blessed are my family who are so very dear
Their good care is why I am still here.
