Communion Reflection... There was a family flying a kite near the parish, I watched as the children were totally caught up in the moment, mesmerized by the gentle movements of this kite. There they were, with a few sticks, paper, strings, a little wonder, and a great stretch of sky—pure simplicity. When asked how he made his statue of David, Michelangelo responded, “It was easy. You just chip away that which doesn’t look like David.” What if we were to apply this philosophy to our lives? Downsize by eliminating the excess. Chip away, one step at a time, and clear out the clutter that overloads and stresses us. While there isn’t a magical instant cure, you can start small with just ten minutes a day, adding another 10 minutes as you go along. Think tall by using the three-box method. Label the boxes: Toss it, Give it away, and Keep it. You’ll soon discover that your enthusiasm to simplify will just keep growing and growing. Once that closet or room contains less stuff and fewer distractions, you’ll experience a new world of freedom and peace. The possessions you accumulated and stuffed away will no longer possess you.

What enchanted us as children still has resonance for our adult selves, from the stories we read to the movies we watched. We love it when the good guys can do the impossible. In the Bible, doing the impossible is called a miracle, from the Latin word for wonder or marvel. Mary and Elizabeth both conceive under circumstances that can only be described as marvellous. God is in the business of doing the impossible, so we’re told. As original rule maker, God is the Rule-Breaker-In-Chief. So perhaps we ought to make a list of the impossible things that need doing—and add them to our prayer list, our advocacy list, even our to-do list. Let’s give future generations something to wonder at.

In Holy Week we are confronted with the primary Christian symbol – the cross – without which we cannot become his disciples. It affords us an opportunity to ponder as to what is the cross that we are taking up daily or refusing to face? Where is our sharing in his passion? There is not much point in dwelling on the crucifixion of Christ during this solemn week if it is an isolated event and not linked with the drama of suffering that goes on in our lives for the rest of the year.

Holy Thursday On this day, Jesus offered the very first Mass, fed His followers for the first time with the Holy Eucharist and ordained the first priests. He showed the depth of His love by washing the feet (the act of a servant) of His apostles, and urged us to do the same. After Mass on this night, we take time to adore Jesus in the Eucharist and thank Him for His great love.

Good Friday Because of the wonderful act of love that Jesus performed, giving His life that we might all be able to live forever in His kingdom of love, peace and grace. We kiss the cross and try to understand why anyone would care so much about us.

Holy Saturday Also known as “Holy.” Tonight, those who have been preparing to become Christian accept Baptism and Confirmation. On this night we keep watch for the Resurrection of Jesus from the dead and sing the first “Gloria” and “Alleluias” of the Easter Season. We ring the bells to announce the Resurrection and the promise of new life. We all renew the vows of our Baptisms. May each of these days be special to us. May we each be prepared through Penance to receive the new life promised us by Christ. And may the Good Shepherd bless our parish family with special love and peace.

Provide-A-Meal... This weekend is our Chili Collection for The Good Shepherd. Chili’s may be dropped off in the freezer, located in the porch of the house at St. John’s Church. Pans and recipes are available. Over 1300 meals and snacks are served every day. Your generous donations are making a difference.

According to Shakespeare, betrayal is “the unkindest cut of all.” Your spouse is having an affair, your friends are lying to you, secrets are shared—betrayals change us forever. The trust is broken and the wounds won’t heal. We’re angry and bitter, and we want others to feel the pain and embarrassment they’ve caused us. So we jump onto the revenge treadmill, looking for ways to get even. Sometimes, it feels good to get back at people and inflict pain, doesn’t it? But spending time on the revenge treadmill makes healing impossible. It prolongs the pain, drags it out, and magnifies it in our hearts. First, we rehash it by telling everyone we meet, “I was stabbed in the back.” Then, we slash the person by casting a shadow over their character. Or, we trash it and let it go. How? Through forgiveness. We jump off the revenge treadmill and stop rehashing and slashing. By trashing it through forgiveness, we no longer allow the betrayer to keep hurting us. We can reclaim our lives, learn from the experience, and then move on.
