Communion Reflection... Aristotle stated, "Time is the most unknown of all unknown things." It is a mystery we can't escape. I remember being a younger person, and time seemed to drag. How that changes as we age! Now it seems to take off without us. My dad measured time with a Thursday ritual. After supper, he'd roll the garbage cans to the front curb for waste pickup. Without fail, he'd ask no one in particular, "Where did the week go?" Back then I had no idea what he was talking about, but now I do. The mystery of time was not his—or mine—to solve. He'd ask the rhetorical question and then let it go. He valued the present too much to dwell on the past or worry about the future. He chose to embrace each passing moment as a gift from God. As I get older now, I see him as he encourages me to do the same. Lord, open my heart to the wonders of this day.

One might expect that everything would have gone smoothly in the congregations founded by St. Paul. But as we read Paul's letters to these churches, we witness the same fussing and infighting that many of us experience in our own lives. However, when God's redeemed and sanctified people humble themselves under the mighty hand of God, swallow their pride and put Christ's plans and purpose first and foremost on their agendas, amazing things can be accomplished for the good and growth of God's kingdom. This does not mean that everyone will suddenly agree on every issue. But when we all have the same first love—our Lord Jesus—and have the same priority—carrying out his mission to seek and to save the lost—then his Spirit can remold us into a faithful and fruitful family of believers.

We live in an age of memoirs. Our stories, however enthralling we think them to be, are short stories. Our storylines change from person to person, but they're really exactly the same.

Just three chapters: we are born, we live our 4 score and 10 plus years, and then we die. That's our storyline. We need a larger story, a more interesting story, one with more than three chapters. Reading through the Gospels, we notice Jesus' attitude about this life. He doesn't seem to think that death of the body is the end of our story, though at times we're tempted to adopt that view and the fear it generates. Jesus has a larger story in mind for us—His. The thing is, he weaves us into His story, and we become a part of it. His story, far more interesting and surpassingly longer than our own, becomes ours. Jesus, thank you for weaving me into your eternal story.

LET US PRAY... GOD, give me eyes that I might see the work that can be done by me. GOD, give me ears that I might hear the cries of those who need me near. GOD, give me lips that I might speak comfort and peace to all that seek. GOD, give me a mind that I might know to help the ones that need me so. GOD, give me hands that I might do some large or simple task for you. GOD, give me prayer that I might pray for help and guidance every day. And this one thing above all else above, GOD, give me a heart that I might love.

We invite all parishioners to join in celebrating Catholic Education Week 2022, which runs from May 1-6. For more than 165 years, Ontario's publicly funded Catholic schools have been integrating our faith into all aspects of school life, nurturing the gifts and talents of every student. We celebrate the distinctive contribution that Catholic schools provide, giving thanks and offering our prayers for all those who faithfully journey with our young people each day. For more information about Catholic Education Week visit www.goodnewsforall.ca
